"THE SQUARE" AT HIGH NOON
The hum of high-powered construction machinery is again prevalent on campus with the preliminary work involving the additions to the Auditorium-Music Building and Wilson Library under way along High Street.

About $26 million of construction is currently going on or about to begin on the campus, according to Campus Planner Barney Goltz, including a road that will by-pass High Street at the Oak Street juncture and connect with Highland Drive on up beyond the campus proper.

The by-pass road, which will be carved out with some $325,000 of college funds and an additional 10 per cent from the City of Bellingham, should be ready sometime this summer, Goltz said. The road drew considerable attention from Highland Drive residents and the Bellingham City Council before the original plans were modified and accepted.

The road’s route and the addition to the Auditorium-Music Building will necessitate the removal of several houses used by the college. The music annex house will be razed as will what is known as the Daugert house located just south of High Street Hall. The housing offices structure, located in back of the A-M Building, will either be razed or moved up near High Street Hall, a campus planning office spokesman said.

Construction on the Wilson Library addition, which will wrap around the south end of the building and extend out to High Street, will begin first. Completion date is July of 1971.

The work on the Auditorium-Music Building will get under way next and is destined to be completed in October of 1971.

The work currently going on now involves the increase of the capacity of the utility system on the west side of High Street and the correction of a deficiency of a portion of the buried system already in existence to serve the new additions.

A part of the project also includes the demolition of the former security and physical plant building at the corner of Garden Terrace and High Streets.

ALUMNI DAY

A Society for the Seventies will be the theme of Western's annual Alumni Day activities to be held Saturday, May 9, on campus.

Beginning with a 1 p.m. welcoming address by President Charles J. Flora, returning alumni are invited to spend the afternoon on campus in conversation with Western faculty members and guests from other campuses.

One of the highlights of the day will be the 7:30 p.m. Alumni Day Banquet at Viking Commons on the campus with the Very Rev. John A. Fitterer, S.J., chancellor of Seattle University, speaking on the topic Freedom on the Campus.

Another feature of this year's gathering will be reunions of the classes of 1920, 1945 and 1960.

A complete list of events for Alumni Day can be found in the full page ad in this issue of Resume.

Please note that dinner tickets must be reserved before May 7 and that payment must accompany your reservation. Persons planning to attend the banquet should contact the Alumni Office, WWSC, Bellingham, Washington 98225.

TOUR AND TRAVEL

There are several tour and group travel opportunities covering four geographic areas and as many price ranges available to alumni through the college this summer.

A South Pacific cruise and Orient tour with Ruth Kelsey of the WWS art department as leader will be conducted as two separate offerings or as a combined package. The South Pacific cruise will be offered for $1,925 and will include from one to six credits at $12 per credit additional cost. The Orient tour will cost $1,762 with the same credit arrangement. The first phase will run from July 6 to August 2 and the second from July 28 to August 28.

The cost for the combined package is $2,858, which includes transportation, hotels and two meals a day.

The South Pacific cruise begins in Seattle with a flight to San Francisco and a cruise through the South Pacific to New Zealand and Australia aboard the Matson Lines cruise ship SS Monterey. The Orient tour will consist of a flight from Vancouver, B.C., to Bali via Tokyo and will include visits to Bangkok, Hong Kong, Taipei, Kyoto, Osaka and Expo 70.

Registration for the South Pacific cruise will close May 19 and for the Orient tour June 11. Persons interested in further information should contact Miss Kelsey through the art department.

An art and design tour of Latin America is being conducted by Dr. Dorothy Ramsland of Western's home economics department. This tour will depart August 2 by air and visit Colombia, Bolivia, Equador, Peru and Brazil, returning August 28. Five credits are available at $12 per credit for those who wish them. The price is approximately $1,700. Further details are available from Dr. Ramsland.

A European tour stretching from August 2 to August 31 is available with a group charter flight beginning in Vancouver, B.C., and arriving in Amsterdam. The transportation cost is $326 for students, faculty, staff and alumni.

Although this is a transportation-only tour, the agent will arrange hotel and car reservations if notified prior to departure. If there is sufficient interest in a guided tour, arrangement could be made for such. Interested persons should contact Mrs. Francine Titus, 322 South Forest Street, Bellingham, or phone (206) 733-1522 soon as space is limited.
