ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Henry G. Schwarz teaches courses on Mongolian and modern Chinese history in the Center for East Asian Studies of Western Washington University. He is also the general editor of the Center's two series, Studies on East Asia and East Asian Research Aids. He established the Center's Newsletter, East Asian Colloquium, and Visiting Scholars Program. In 1978 he organized in Bellingham the only conference on Mongolian Studies ever held in North America. In 1981 he arranged an agreement between Western Washington University and Inner Mongolia University whereby each year students from American universities study first- and second-year Mongolian language at Inner Mongolian University. Over the past eleven years Professor Schwarz spent much time at the Central Nationalities Institute in Beijing and in the border areas of Northern China as well as in Japan and the Mongolian People's Republic. Among his many works that are related to the subject of the present book are Leadership Patterns in China's Frontier Regions (1964), Chinese Policies Towards Minorities (1971), Mongolian Short Stories (1974), Bibliotheca Mongolica (1978), Studies on Mongolia, as editor (1979), Mongolian Publications at Western Washington University (1984), as well as numerous book chapters and articles.
